Tremendous Progress Made By Canada In Wheat Growing During Past Twenty-five Years

The natural resources intelligence service of the department of the interior at Ottawa says Canada has made tremendous progress in the past twenty-five years in the production of wheat, and the extension of her wheat areas is attracting considerable interest in the buying countries. At the opening of the present century the excellence of Canadian wheat became recognized, but occupied a comparatively inconspicuous position in the wheat markets of the world. Within the past twenty-five years—but a day in the life of a nation—that position has been entirely changed, and Canada has advanced from ninth to second place as a grower of wheat and from fifth to first place as an exporter of this cereal.

The rapid increase in Canadian acreage devoted to wheat is shown by the following figures: In 1909 in all Canada there was but 4,234,542 planted to wheat; in 1910 this area had increased to 5,863,161 acres; in 1920 to 12,552,574 acres; and in 1924 to 22,965,710 acres. The production of wheat in 1901 amounted to 65,572,583 bushels, in 1910 to 132,048,782 bushels, in 1920 to 263,189,300 bushels, and in 1924 to 474,199,000 bushels.

Canada's influence on the world's wheat markets is illustrated by the enormous growth of exports. From the small amount of 5,871,529 bushels in 1901 they took what was at that time a big jump to 18,689,092 bushels in 1909, to 21,546,703 bushels in 1910, to 45,893,228 bushels in 1920, and in 1924, 100,000,000 bushels of wheat was poured into the world market. In 1915 exports were 145,506,513 bushels and in 1924, 214,620,825 bushels.

Canada has a wonderful opportunity, not only in the productiveness of her wheat fields and in the quality of the wheat that her soil and climate produces, but in the fact that the wheat industry of Russia, which was a chief competitor, has not recovered its pre-war status. Canadian wheat is much in demand both in Great Britain and on the continent, and can be produced at a comparatively low cost, in competition with American-grown wheat.

The farm cost of producing wheat in Western Canada in 1922, as estimated by the United States tariff commission, was 82 cents a bushel, including a land charge, figured as interest on stated land values. These figures were opposed to a cost of $1.47 per bushel, the estimated cost of producing similar wheat in Minnesota, Montana and the Dakotas, made by the same authority.

Canadian wheat is acknowledged to be of an unusually high order and, through the Canadian system of grading and elevator regulations, merits the standing it has among foreign buyers.

Farmer Identified Property

Proved in Peculiar Way His Ownership of Chickens

When asked if he could identify some chickens which he had lost and which two men were charged with stealing, J. McDonald, Ont., a farmer living near Arton, told County Constable Chapman they were "quiet hens and always greeted his horse when he returned home from town by jumping on the shafts of the buggy."

McDonald took the constable in his buggy to where the chickens were, and immediately they saw the horse they performed their "stunt" by jumping all over the shafts of the buggy. The identification was complete.

Following Alberta's Lead

Several States Seeking Information on Cream Grading System

Several states are following the lead of Alberta in adopting official cream grading systems. The latest request for information is from the state of Illinois, where it is hoped to work out some such system this year. The state of West Virginia is also endeavoring to inaugurate a system modeled on the Alberta system. It is expected that Dr. Moseley, secretary of the American Association of Creamery Butter Manufacturers, will visit Alberta this summer to study the system there.

Where Immigration Flows

Bulk of Immigration Must Make Its Way to the Prairies

No section of Canada is really populated to the point which would make an invasion of immigrants on a large scale impossible without economic disturbance and difficulties. It is only in the more sparsely populated west that there is opportunity for large numbers of strangers to find places. Land here is comparatively cheap and the object of the immigration policy is, and must be, to get people onto land which they can pay for. The only way to divert the stream from the western provinces to the older ones is to cut down the value of farm lands in the eastern provinces to a figure within reach of the newcomers or to open enough new factories to absorb them into the industrial system. Neither is practicable. With or without government direction, the tide will flow where the resistance to be encountered is least. As the west fills up the east will fill up too, but for many years the bulk of immigration must make its way to the prairies. And after last winter's unemployment experience it should not be difficult for an easterner to understand that that is the only safe and sane policy to promote.—Edmonton Bulletin.

Formality of the White House

"There was just as much formality as at Buckingham Palace," declared Mrs. Chas. Thornburn, speaking of a reception of women delegates to the international council of women's congress in Washington by President and Mrs. Coolidge, at the White House. Mrs. Thornburn was elected vice-treasurer of the council of the congress.

Former Governor-General Here

His Lordship the Earl of Aberdeen and Temair, and Isabel, Countess of Aberdeen and Temair, after an absence of seven years, have again visited the Dominion, of which His Lordship was Governor-General thirty years ago. They went with the British delegates to the seventh Quinquennial Conference of the International Council of Women, which met at Washington, May 4th. The latter represents 35,000,000 women belonging to 38 National Councils, said the Countess of Aberdeen when interviewed recently, and their aim is "Peace through Arbitration." Her Ladyship organized the Victorian Order of Nurses during her regime as Vice-Regent at Ottawa and has since seen it grow into a national-wide movement. "It gave me great pleasure," said Her Ladyship, "when our ship put in at Halifax to meet representatives of the order in uniform, who came down to the dock to greet us."

"It is always a pleasure to meet old friends," said Lord Aberdeen, "and none so dear as the friends who were made in Canada. Lady Aberdeen and I crossed your glorious country twice before I became Governor-General and we always count those visits and subsequent ones among our happiest times. I have never broad open prairie, your great lakes and towering mountains. Mention of our first trip reminds me of the old man who, endeavoring to convey to a Scotchman the immensity of Canada, said, 'Why, we have taken this which you could drop the entire British Isles and would spare Scotland would be lost except for the smell of whisky.'"

"It is always easier to count our cash-take experience than to swap it back again."

Western Canada's Titled Farmers Are Playing An Important Part In Development Of Agriculture

Hungarian Settlers

Between Fifty and Sixty Thousand Now Located in Canada

There are between fifty and sixty thousand Hungarians (Magyars) immigrants and their children in Canada, according to Dr. Frank Hoffman, of St. Andrew's College, Saskatoon, there being settlements at Othman, Pelly and Regina, composed of very industrious, contented people with large families. In 1921 Dr. Hoffman established a literary society in Regina, and from which important social and national work amongst the Hungarians is carried on and the ideals of Canadian citizenship brought constantly before them. Many have been very successful on the land, amongst whom are J. Troth, Sr., who, beginning with a capital of but $200, now with his five sons, owns 20 quarter sections of land.

Canadian Seed Goes To U.S.

Alfred Alfalfa and Timothy Seed

Find a Ready Market. A considerable quantity of alfalfa seed produced in Alberta last year was sold to the United States' dealers, indicating the demand for northern-grown seed. It is estimated that over a quarter of a million pounds were sold altogether. Alberta seed growers also sold one hundred thousand pounds of Timothy seed.

Prince Charles Philippe d'Orleans, descendant of King Louis Philippe of France, and nephew of the King of the Belgians, has recently arrived in Canada in the company of the Hon. John Stanley, who was his companion at Oxford, to become the latest addition to the growing list of titled agriculturists in Western Canada. He is at present on the ranch of Lord Rodney at Port Saskatchewan, Alberta, where he will remain for a year, as a pupil before acquiring a ranch of his own, probably in the vicinity of that of the Prince of Wales in Southern Alberta.

Western Canada, and in particular Southern Alberta, is being particularly favored by the aristocracy of Europe seeking fresh outlet for their endeavors along the line of agriculture and each year sees some addition to the territory's group of titled ranchers. The acquisition and subsequent development of a ranch in Southern Alberta by the Prince of Wales is generally regarded as having been a precedent, whereas the Prince had several predecessors among the titled families of Europe, as he has had many successors. It is not generally known that the Prince was also guided to some extent in the selection of the locality of his ranch by reason of the close proximity of that of the Earl of Minto, which had been established some years before.

Years ago Lord Aberdeen and the Duke of Sutherland developed ranches in Western Canada, the former at the northern entrance to the Okanagan Valley in British Columbia, and the latter in the Brooks district of Southern Alberta. These are relinquishing his property a short while ago Lord Aberdeen had performed certain valuable colonization with old country families, and played a part in the development of the British Columbia fruit industry. The area about the Duke of Sutherland's property has become famous as an alfalfa-producing region, and his land had the honor in 1921 of bringing the championship for alfalfa seed to Canada for the first time.

In the same High River district of Southern Alberta, where the ranch of the Prince of Wales is located, is the fine mixed farming establishment of the Count de Foras, a French nobleman who located there many years ago, and is one of the province's most successful agriculturists. North of this, near Calgary, is the estate farm of Admiral G. Como, D.S.O., a relative of the King of Italy, whilst still farther north is the Danish dairy colony of Markerville, where Prince Egle, son of the King of Denmark, lived for years and studied farming. Counting still farther north, one comes to the district of Fort Saskatchewan, north of Edmonton, in which is the ranch of Lord Rodney, where the French Prince has the absolute dominion of western farming, and which the English nobleman has been developing for years along practical lines.

Since the war, following the upheaval in Europe, Western Canada has received many refugees of the old nobilities, particularly from Russia, who in the new land are moulding new lives. In addition, many individuals of high rank in the allied forces have, in the respite from war, and the desire for more tranquil life, taken up the threads of civil life as farmers upon the plains of Western Canada.

This tendency, so pronouncedly evident in the years since the termination of the war, is merely a further indication of the absolute democracy of Western Canada and the high standing of agriculture in that territory, which brings all men, of whatever class or calling, up to the level of the pursuit of the world's most important industry.

New Idea in Raising

Silk worm ranching is being carried on satisfactorily in the Sacramento Valley, California. A company has commenced the hatching of two million eggs of silkworms for the commercial production of silk. The eggs were imported from France and Italy. The firm has more than twenty-five thousand mulberry trees planted for feeding the worms and producing the material from which silk is made.

"If they so much as put a shot across my bows, up goes their Deputy-Governor to the yardarm. Your only hope, Colonel, lies in the fact that I shall send them word of that intention. And so that you may mend as far as you can the harm you have done, it is yourself shall bear them the message, my lord."

"I'll see you damned before I do," fumed his lordship.

"Why, that's unreasonable and unreasoning. But if ye insist, why, another messenger will do as well, and another hostage aboard—as I had originally intended—will make my hand the stronger."

"Aye, in God's name, go, my lord," spluttered Bishop, "and make yourself obeyed."

Lord Julian bowed stiffly to the cowering Deputy-Governor. "You understand, sir, that I do as you desire," he said coldly.

"Aye, man, aye!" Bishop assented hastily.

"Very well," Blood escorted Lord Julian to the entrance ladder at the foot of which still swung the Arabella's own cockboat.

"It's good-bye, my lord," said Blood. "And there's another thing. He proffered a parchment. 'It is the commission. Bishop was right when he said it was a mistake.'"

"I am sorry," Lord Julian said sincerely. "I still do not perceive—blister me if I do!—why you should not have found someone else to carry my message to the Commandant, and kept me aboard as an additional hostage for his obedience to your wishes."

Blood's vivid eyes looked into the other's that were clear and honest, and he smiled, a little hesitantly. A moment he seemed to hesitate.

"Why shouldn't I tell you? It's the same reason that it's been urging me to pick a quarrel with you so that I might have the satisfaction of slipping a couple of feet of steel into your vitals. When I accepted your commission—"

"I was moved to think it might redeem me in the eyes of Miss Bishop—for whose sake, as you may have guessed, I took it. But I have discovered that such a thing is beyond accomplishment. I should have known it for a sick man's dream. I have discovered also that if she's choosing you as I believe she is, she's choosing wisely between us, and that's why I'll not have your life risked by keeping you aboard whilst the message goes by another who might bludge it. And now, perhaps, you'll understand."

"And you tell me that—"

"I tell you because . . . Oh, plague on it!—so that you may tell her; so that she may be made to realize that there's something of the unfortunate gentleman left under the thief and pirate she accounts me, and that her own good is my supreme desire. Knowing that, she may . . . faintly, she may remember me more kindly—if it's only in her prayers. That's all, my lord."

Lord Julian held out his hand. "I wonder whether you are right," said his lordship, "and whether you are not the better man."

"Where she is concerned see that you make sure that I am right. Good-bye to you."

The Arabella sailed within the hour, moving lastly before a slight breeze. The fort remained silent and there was no movement from the fleet to hinder her departure.

CHAPTER XXI.

War

Five miles out at sea from Port Royal, whence the details of the coast of Jamaica were losing their sharpness, the Arabella bore to, and the sloop she had been towing was warped alongside.

Captain Blood escorted his compulsory guest to the head of the ladder. Colonel Bishop breathed freely at last. "A safe voyage home to you, Colonel, darling," said he in valediction, and from his easy, smiling manner you would never have dreamt of the pain he carried in his breast.

On the mole at Port Royal, under the low, embattled wall of the fort, Major Mallard and Lord Julian waited to receive him, and it was with infinite relief that they assisted him from the sloop.

How He Discovered Best Constipation Relief

Mr. Joseph P. Glue of Brooklyn, N.Y., writes: "In the past 20 years I have been constantly troubled with constipation. Every remedy I tried would work O.K. for a while—but soon failed. The only remedy I have been able to use steadily with good results have been Carter's Little Liver Pills. I don't guess when I take them—I know I'm going to feel relieved." Size at all druggists.

changes; your uncle, because he could not forget his ramour; you because . . . Because having told him that in the King's service he would find his redemption of what was past, you would ask afterwards admit to mean that he was no redeemed. And this, although concern to rescue you, was the chief motive of his embracing that same service."

She had turned her shoulder to him so that he should not see her face. His lordship's unusual nervousness was steadily increasing. "He thought, then—so he told me—that my presence here had contributed to his inability to redeem himself in your sight; and unless he were so redeemed, then was redemption nothing."

"He thought that you had contributed," he echoed.

"Aye, and he said so in terms which told me something that I hope above all things, and yet dare not believe, for God knows, I am no coxcomb. Arabella."

He said: "I had gone aboard his ship to demand the instant surrender of your uncle. He laughed at me. Colonel Bishop should be a hostage for his safety. By rashly snatching about his ship, I afforded him in my own person yet another hostage as valuable at least as Colonel Bishop. Yet he bade me depart; not from the fear of consequences, for he is above fear, nor from any personal esteem for me when he confessed that he had come to find detestable; and this for the very reason that made him concerned for my safety."

"I do not understand," she said, as he paused. "Is not that a contradiction in itself?"

"It seems so only. The fact is, Arabella, this unfortunate man has the . . . the temerity to love you."

She cried out at that, and clutched her breast whose calm was suddenly disturbed. "Oh, no," she bade him.

"Well, then, he says in me one who made it impossible that he should win you—so he said. Therefore he could with satisfaction have killed me. But because my death might cause you pain, because your happiness was the thing that above all things he desired, he surrendered that part of his guarantee of safety which my person afforded him. If his departure should be hindered, and I should lose my life in what might follow, there was the risk—that . . . that you might mourn me. Because of that he bade

"Anyhow, it's not for long," growled the Colonel, finding speech at last. "No, by . . . He emphasized the assurance by an unprintable oath. "If I spend the last shilling of my fortune and the last ship of the Jamaica fleet, I'll have that rascal in a homely necktie before I rest!" He had emperied in his angry vehemence, and the veins of his forehead stood out like whipcord. "Come, my lord. We must take order about this, you and I."

"They went off together, skirting the redoubt, and so through courtyard and garden to the house where Arabella waited anxiously. The sight of her uncle brought her infinite relief, not only on his own account, but on account also of Captain Blood."

"You took a great risk, sir," she gravely told Lord Julian after the ordinary greetings had been exchanged.

But Lord Julian answered her as he had answered Major Mallard. "There was no risk, madam. So that Blood's ship was allowed to pass the fort, no harm could come to Colonel Bishop. Blood pledged me his word for that."

Very early next morning, before the heat of the day came to render the open intolerable to his lordship, he espied her from his window moving amid the azaleas in the garden. He hurried forth to join her. He explained himself by the announcement that he bore her a message from Captain Blood.

"He desired me," he said at last, "to give you a message that would prove to you that there is still something left in him of the unfortunate gentleman that . . . that . . . for which once you knew him. It is not easy. Stab me, it is not. He was a man who deserved well. And amongst us we have drafted his

Iodine Is Rarest Of Human Elements

Body Contains But One Five-Thousandth Of An Ounce

There is only a tenth of an ounce of iron in the human body, yet that small quantity is essential to life. But compared with iodine, iron is an abundant human element, writes Dr. Milo Hastings, of New York. The amount of iodine in a healthy human is about five-thousandths of an ounce. Counting ten million people in New York and vicinity this would give us about a hundred pounds of iodine for the community. One man could carry the iodine for the whole ten million of us—but if we let him do so, the other 9,999,999 of us would promptly die.

This sound like a lot of fool theory—but it is as well proved as any fact known to the science of life and health. This minute quantity of iodine is contained in our thyroid gland, and because of it that gland performs its function of controlling the growth and normal development of body and mind.

Pain In The Muscles, Stiffness In Joints,

Quickly-Subdued By Nerviline

Those who have tested out numerous liniments will agree that where something is needed to dislodge a deep-seated, more or less chronic condition there is nothing to compare with Nerviline. It's because Nerviline penetrates so deeply, because it has about five times the strength of the ordinary oil preparation, it has come to be known as King over all Pains. For Rheumatic conditions, muscular and joint stiffness, Nerviline works. A trial proves this. Get a 35 cent bottle from your dealer to-day.

Another Old Custom Passes

Whip-Women Of London Leave Old Covent Garden

The whip-women of Covent Garden are going to abandon the precincts of this famous produce market for the same reason that the village blacksmith is becoming an automobile sales-man. The whip-women are among the picturesque denizens that go along with this most picturesque market square, and for the last 300 years an unbroken line of members of their families have checked the whips of the produce growers who frequent this market.

This concession of whip checking, which has supported many families for so long a time, was granted to six ancestors of the present-day whip-women in the thirteenth century when Covent Garden was really a convent garden of the Monks of Westminster outside which the farmers brought their garden truck to sell.

In that century half a dozen whip-women took charge of the whips of the farmers to keep them from the hands of thieves, and collected a penny from the owner at the end of the day. The number of whip-women has grown to 12 because some women left their share of the concessions to two daughters, but even though the price of checking whips is now threepence, the whip-women of today cannot make a living, they say.

Socialism and Capitalism

The Dreamers Who Would Upset the Present Social Order

If there were no need of betterment there would be no need of politics. But it is a long leap from the proposition that capitalism has not produced an earthly paradise to the proposition that it must therefore be replaced by a totally different system founded on a theory of which nothing is known but that its champions disagree among themselves as to what it means, and that the attempt to put one version of it into practice has resulted in a frightful national catastrophe.—London Daily Telegraph.

Don't think of Mustard merely as a spicy relish to enjoy with cold meat.

Mustard is a seasoning to be used as widely as you use salt and pepper.

Mustard brings out the natural hidden flavours of cooked dishes and, adding its own flavour, gives them a new zest and relish.

PAINS ACROSS THE BACK

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mitchell, Ontario.—"I have taken your medicine for a number of years. I do not take it steady all the time, but I am never without it. I always keep it in the house. I took it first for pains in the abdomen and bearing-down pains in the head and pains across the back. I have my home to look after and many a day I could not get up at all. I saw the advertisement in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and Mrs. John Miller told me about it, too. Every time I take it, it makes me feel better and I always recommend it to my friends. I am willing to answer letters from women asking about this medicine and you may use this letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. F. J. WALKER, Mitchell, Ontario.

The merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound lies in the fact that it is a natural remedy. Many women know by experience what this medicine will do and they are anxious to get it to know.

Such testimony should cause any woman suffering from the troubles so common to her sex to give this well-known medicine a fair trial.

Do you know that in a recent canvass among women users of the Vegetable Compound over 220,000 replies were received. To the question, "Have you received benefit by taking this medicine?" 88 per cent. replied "Yes."

This means that 98 out of every 100 women are in better health because they have given this medicine a fair trial.

DISCUSS DETAILS OF THE RETURN OF RESOURCES

Ottawa.—The committee comprising representatives of prairie provinces and the Dominion Government will sit in conference frequently during the next few days on the details of the return of the natural resources, now controlled by the Dominion, to the provinces.

Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, chairman, indicated that there was a multitude of matters to be considered by the committee, including the land to be set aside for Indian reserves, and the land to be assigned to the Hudson's Bay Company.

The actual terms of settlement were not, he intimated, ready to be announced at the present time. Whether or not the final settlement could be disposed of by parliament this season would depend upon the progress made by the committee during the next few days.

Will Not Hasten Case

Manitoba's Appeal Against Northern Railway Not Coming Before Privy Council

London.—An application to have the appeal of the province of Manitoba against the Canadian Northern Railway expedited before the judicial committee of the privy council was denied. The time allowed respondents to prepare their case had not yet expired. Manitoba is appealing on the question of whether jurisdiction to fix rates on the Manitoba Northern system rests with the province or with the Dominion board of railway commissioners.

Trees For Delegates

Amawalk, N.Y.—To symbolize the ever strengthening bonds of friendship between the democracies of the world, Police Commissioner Enright of New York gave a young tree to each of the seventy foreign delegates to the international police conference here. Such trees as are not shown overboard just outside the statue of Liberty, will be transplanted in the delegates home towns.

Improve Housing Conditions

London.—First reading was given in the House of Commons to the bill introduced by E. Thurtle, Labor member for Shoreditch, providing for municipal authorities acquiring unoccupied houses for the purposes of relieving overcrowding. Mr. Thurtle said large numbers of people were living in houses unfit for human habitation.

Prince Extending African Visit

Capetown.—It has been officially announced that the Prince of Wales tour of South Africa will be extended one week. He will leave Capetown for South America July 29, instead of July 22, as planned, and will thus have a week's rest at Capetown after his tiring African tour.

No Agreement Reached On Disarmament Note

Paris.—British and French differences regarding the phrasing of the disarmament note to Germany are proving more difficult to adjust than had been expected. The council of ambassadors have been postponing its meetings repeatedly on this account, and again adjourned without fixing another date for the meeting. It is hoped, however, that an Anglo-French accord will be reached soon regarding the disarmament note and that the council of ambassadors can dispatch it to Berlin without much more delay.

London Paper Attacks Lord Chief Justice

Official Criticized For Writing Journalistic Articles for Pay

London.—Lord Hewart, lord chief justice of England, has been added to the list of prominent officials attacked for writing to the press. He recently contributed an article with regard to technical objections to the press in their right sitting in the House of Lords. The Westminster Gazette says the gist of the discussion surrounding the question of officials contributing to the newspapers is that "his man in the street, who sees these ponderous articles and hears that enormous fees are paid for them, is beginning to wonder if it does not lower the dignity of public life when highly paid servants supplement their salaries by popular journalism." The salary of the lord chief justice is £10,000 a year.

British Anglicans Discuss Union With Catholics

Delegation of Theologians Will Go to Belgium to Study Question

Brussels.—The Ligue Belge prints a letter received by Cardinal Mercier, primate of Belgium, announcing the arrival at an early date in Malines of a delegation of British theologians. The delegation, which will be under the patronage of the Archbishop of Canterbury and York, will meet a group of Catholic theologians with a view to studying together, in a friendly spirit, the problem of a union of churches.

Perian Independence

London.—That Great Britain had no protectorial aims in Persia, but desired only the independence of that country, was intimated by the Earl of Halifax, speaking in the House of Lords, in his new role of lord president of the council. He answered criticism from foreign sources of Britain's policy in Persia, declaring that it was entirely due to misinformation with regard to oil and other matters.

Allied Debts Problem

Paris.—Premier Poincaré, Foreign Minister Briand, and Finance Minister Caillaux held a conference to study the French financial situation, including the question of inter-allied debts, and the decisions which are arrived at will be submitted to the next cabinet meeting for approval.

PLEDGE IS GIVEN FOR GERMANY BY STRESEMAN

Berlin.—Foreign Minister Stresemann provided a shock to France when he delivered a comprehensive statement of German policy in the Reichstag. For two hours Stresemann outlined the principles that will guide the government. He announced that a commercial treaty with the United States would be presented to the Reichstag shortly.

Referring to the continental security pact proposals, Stresemann said that Germany could not admit the permanence of her eastern frontier, where a large slice of German territory has been incorporated within Poland, but that she did not intend to seek revision by force. This statement will shock such Frenchmen as believe that the treaty constitutes a sort of New Testament for Europe, and that revision of its clauses must not be contemplated.

Stresemann simultaneously pledged Germany to honorable observance of the requirements of the Dawes plan, emphasized the importance of the United States financial assistance to Germany, and described the United States as the nation whence the most vital efforts to revive Europe must emanate. He recalled the infusion of American money into German industries and declared that the United States spiritual understanding of Germany was increasing.

Criticizes U.S. Government

Action on Debt Is Condemned by London Paper

London.—The Morning Post, commenting upon the action of the United States in soliciting funding proposals from its European debtors, condemns the United States attitude on the question and deplores the present step. The paper describes the action of the Washington government as "another illustration of the excessive influence which legislators exercise too frequently these democratic days, in the realm of foreign affairs."

President of Labor Bureau

Geneva.—Edouard Benes, foreign minister of Czechoslovakia, was unanimously elected president of the seventh annual international labor conference at its opening session here. M. Benes, addressing Labor delegates from 42 countries, expressed optimism regarding Europe's future, but warned that peace policies must be patiently pushed. He said the motto of all democracies should be "pacification, consolidation and reconstruction."

Greenland to Have Own Coinage

Copenhagen.—Greenland, which hitherto has used the coinage of her mother country, Denmark, is shortly to have a coinage of her own. The coins will carry on one side the figure of a polar bear. The bills will be on specially strong paper to withstand the rough handling they will receive in circulation through the Eskimo colonies.

Government Asks U.S. For View on Court Ruling

Ottawa.—The United States Government has been asked by the Canadian government for its interpretation of the recent ruling of the United States Supreme Court in the matter of diversion of water from the Great Lakes by the city of Chicago. Premier King announced in the house that in view of the divergent official interpretations which are said to have been placed on the court's ruling, he had asked Washington to give its official views on the matter.

Changes On Stamp Tax Act

Amendments Have Been Given Third Reading in House

Ottawa.—Special amendments to the Special War Revenue Act, respecting stamp taxes, has been given third reading in the House of Commons. The amendments provide for a definition of a cheque which will require the issuer of "wheat tickets" or "cream tickets" or other documents issued by a company to a farmer negotiable at a bank to affix on them a stamp. There will be a minimum stamp tax on foreign bills of $1.

Under the amendment a person can transfer an amount to his credit from one branch to another branch of the same bank. Money orders or travellers' cheques issued by "banks or any person," under the amendments, will be subject to stamp tax. Cheques not exceeding $5 will not require the stamp. The amendments become effective July 1, 1925.

In the discussion on the bill, Sir Henry Drayton criticised the whole stamp tax law as being "nasty, aggravating and troublesome."

Getting Busy On Land

U.S. Dry Officers Will Stop Liquor Smuggling Over Lakes

New York.—With Rum Row reported to be dwindling day by day, prohibition enforcement officers are getting busier and busier on land. R. J. Merrick, divisional prohibition enforcement chief, says the next move will be to cut off the runners operating over the St. Lawrence River and the Great Lakes.

Coastguard officials in charge of the naval blockade report that Rum Row has dwindled to seven closely guarded ships. When the blockade started May 5, 80 ships were at anchor in the Atlantic between Narragansett, R.I., and Atlantic City, they declare.

Forest Fires Cause Loss

Port Arthur, Ont.—Four farm houses are known to have been wiped out and seven or eight others are believed to have suffered by the forest fires which have swept over the Silver Mountain and Whitefish areas on the P.A.D. sub-division of the Canadian National Railways, 50 miles west of this city.

Given Second Reading

Ottawa.—A bill embodying the trade treaty between Canada and Finland, extending to Finland the favored nation treatment in tariff matters, has been given second reading in the house.

TIME FOR ACTION ON QUESTION OF RURAL CREDITS

Ottawa.—"The time has arrived when action should be taken in this matter," declared Hon. H. H. Stevens, in discussing the question of rural credits before the banking and commerce committee of the house. Mr. Stevens proposed a motion to rescind a resolution, passed at a previous meeting, urging upon the government that legislation be brought down at this session for the establishment of an adequate rural credit system.

The motion to rescind was defeated and an amendment by Mr. Stevens correcting technical errors in the original resolution, carried after considerable discussion.

Representatives were received from various mortgage corporations, asking for the right to present their views on the subject. The committee intimated that, if legislation were brought down, representatives of mortgage corporations and rural credit associations probably would be afforded an opportunity to appear before the committee.

Lloyd George Is Silent

Has Already Prepared Plan of Campaign to Relief

London.—The role of sphinx is a new one for Lloyd George, but he is filling it so successfully that he is again becoming the most commanding and interesting figure in British politics.

Liberals who are being asked to subscribe lavishly to the new treasure chest which the party is creating are asking anxiously when Lloyd George is going to emerge from the midst of seclusion, which seems now to envelop him, and announce in public the plan of campaign which he is believed to have prepared.

Lloyd George, of course, will adhere to his policy of free trade and social reform, but the Liberals are going to be terribly disappointed if he fails to emerge from his tent with a good winning platform. His future leadership is going to depend upon his ability to produce one.

Presents Plan To Curb Reckless Driving

Two Reports Should Carry Penalty Says Chicago Man

Ottawa.—As a likely solution to the problem of curbing the tremendous loss of life caused by reckless automobile driving, Colonel H. C. Boyden, of Chicago, addressing the Ottawa Rotary Club, advocated the formation of a control depot in every state or province, where drivers should be licensed and their licenses made something of value to them.

Whenever a driver was exposed to danger from the recklessness of another, he should take the offender's number and name if possible and report the incident to the central depot. Two reports against a motorist should carry a penalty or suspension of driving license for a period of 60 or 90 days, a third a year's suspension, and a certain number should result in the cancelling of the license.

Plans Antarctic Expedition

Brisbane, Australia.—Captain George H. Wilkins, explorer, who is now in Northern Australia, intends to lead an Antarctic expedition. He hopes to be in Antarctic water and ready to start on an aeroplane in January, 1926, as preliminary to a big international scheme for meteorological development.

Branch Lines Bills Passed

Ottawa.—The two bills providing for the construction of Canadian National branch lines between Bengough and a point near Willowbush and the Turfhead branch in Saskatchewan, were given third reading in the House of Commons after a brief debate. The bills will be introduced in the senate.

Loss of Taxes

Ottawa.—A delegation representing the rural municipalities of Saskatchewan and Alberta is in the city to complete the process of the taxation of taxes the municipalities suffer through farms purchased for soldier settlers being abandoned and reverting to the crown.

"A FINE BODY OF MEN"

The members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police shown above are on duty at the British Empire Exhibition, Wembley, retelling the Canadian tradition and incidentally, showing the visitors what splendid young men the Dominion produces. The party, consisting of ten troopers, under the command of Inspector C. H. Hill, was photographed at Waterloo Station—a part of London exceptionally well known to all ex-soldiers who proceed overseas and which they still affectionately refer to when they become remittance men. When the above troopers disembarked at Southampton from the Canadian Pacific S.S. Minnedosa they were warmly welcomed, and although they are there on duty and under strict discipline, they do not find this kind of "active service" by any means unpleasant.

Movie-Making in Canadian Rockies

1—Directing an Alaskan scene in Alberta. 2—A Northern villain hiding in the Rockies. 3—A scene from "The Alaskan" showing the men, Kipling, and screened upon film.

While it may be true that in the making of moving pictures Canada has a trifle behind the United States, there is at least one particular in which American producers are becoming more and more dependent upon the Dominion for the proper production of their super-films. And that particular is scenery.

They may have their stars, their mechanical contrivances, their experience and their wealth, but during the past few years they have learned that for sheer beauty of scenery and splendor of "settings," the Canadian Pacific Rocky Mountains are unsurpassable. That this discovery was made at all is due mainly to one, Mr. Ernest Shipman.

Two or three years ago it occurred to Mr. Shipman (who has produced some notable pictures in his time) that there were certain spots in the Rocky Mountains, such as Banff, Lake Louise, Emerald Lake and their environs, which were, on account of their singular beauty, admirably adapted to the production of Northern dramas. So he mobilized his forces, placed his beloved megaphone securely under his arm and embarked, via the Canadian Pacific Railway, for the Rocky Mountains.

Here, with Henry MacRae directing, he proceeded to film "The Forger" near the shores of Lake Louise, with the magnificent mountains for a backdrop, and, for a stage, one of the most exclusive spots on earth. The result was that, not only did he produce a splendid picture but that the Rockies sprang into instant popularity as a setting for northern dramas.

Since then scores of other "super-films" have been produced and many villains have paid the penalty of their foul deeds, many modest maidens have yielded to the wooing of strong, silent men; many dauntless heroes have faced the nameless terrors of the Alaskan wilds, on the peaceful shores of Emerald Lake and the innocent highway between Banff and Windermere.

Among the most notable pictures screened entirely or in part with the Rockies for a background, are "Back to God's Country," "The River's End," "The Alaskan," "Empty Hands," "The Sky Pilot," "Gleamery Schoulders," "The Man From Glenary," "The Valley of Silent Men," "The Valley of the Gods," and "The Forger."

The chances are, then, that when you sit in your favorite movie house and gaze in silent admiration on the forbidding beauty of Alaska, the hills of Shasta, or the still Sierras, you are, in reality, gazing at something far nearer home, not nearly so forbidding and infinitely more beautiful—the Rocky Mountains themselves.

So, America may have her Hollywood and her monopoly of the industry, but now that the value of the Rockies as a place where people may shoot the rapids, kill each other, make love, win fortunes and indulge in the other pleasant pastimes peculiar to moviemaking, has been realized, it is to be hoped that Canada's position in the realm of the silent drama will shortly become more prominent than it has been in the past.

The Rockies are now easily accessible, there are Canadian Pacific hotels at some of the most attractive points, the light, atmosphere, and other conditions are good, and there is no reason in the world why they should not eventually become a veritable "Hollywood of the Hills."

Here and There

The mineral, fish and land resources of British Columbia will again be extensively advertised at Wembley this year at a cost of $18,000 or $19,000, according to a statement by Premier Oliver.

The Universal Film Company is perfecting its plans for filming the Calgary Stampede this summer as part of a forthcoming production in which Hoot Gibson will star. This will involve an expenditure of about $100,000.

Canadian exports to France in 1924 were valued at 482,826,000 francs as against imports from that country of 333,254,000 francs. There was a marked increase in trade of late years which is attributed partly to the Treaty of Commerce and the propaganda work of the Canadian Pacific Exhibition train.

S. Frank Muscard of the South African Irrigation Association, Johannesburg, who has just completed an independent investigation of the agricultural conditions throughout Canada has stated that he is "perfectly satisfied with the possibilities Canada has to offer the right type of settler."

"Montie," the lead dog of the famous Chateau Frontenac husky team realized $1,200 during the Humane Society tag-day at Toronto recently. He collected on behalf of this organization throughout the city and the tag that was sold was decorated with his portrait.

Broadcasting of copyright songs in the United States is declared subject to copyright fees or royalties as much as publication by other methods of performance. This decision, which has considerable bearing on the Canadian Copyright Bill now under discussion in Ottawa was reached as a result of a recent test case in the United States.

Approximately five millions dollars will be spent in maintaining and constructing new highways within the Province of Quebec during the present year. At present there are 2,586 miles of highway in the province stretching into all parts of Quebec and linking up with main roads in the U.S. and the sister provinces to the East and West.

According to a report prepared by the Merchants Exchange of Vancouver, forty-two regular steamship lines are now operating out of that harbor, the gross tonnage of that year being 14,473,518 which is over a million tons in excess of the 1923 figures. The Canadian Pacific Railway is now erecting a new pier there which will be one of the finest and largest on the continent.

The Campbell River Company of White River has purchased the entire holdings of the James Logging Company of Vancouver which include 35,000 acres of timber lands, containing over two billion feet of logs, a saw mill with a capacity of more than 50,000 feet of lumber a day, three large tugs and a complete logging outfit. A sum of more than five millions dollars is said to be involved.

Arrangements have been completed to ship 200 books by Canadian authors to be exhibited at Wembley this year. A special grant has been made by the Provincial Government of Quebec to provide artistic bindings for these books many of which will be by French-Canadian authors. That this is to be done is largely due to the initiative of the Arts, Sciences and Letters Society of Quebec City in co-operation with the provincial government.

FOURTH ANNUAL TOUR TO THE PACIFIC COAST.

Special Train from Winnipeg via Canadian National Railways—Entertainment Provided for at Various Points of Interest en Route.

PERSONALLY CONDUCTED

Personally conducted tours offer the best opportunity for familiarizing oneself with the country traversed. This applies to our own country as well as to the older settled countries of Europe. Canadian National Railways has, for many years, commencing immediately after the close of school for the summer holidays, conducted special parties to the Pacific Coast via Prince Rupert. The tour this year which will be the fourth, will again commence at Winnipeg, from which point a special train of modern sleeping car equipment, dining car and radio observation car, will leave July 6th. After stopping at various points of interest, the train will arrive at Prince Rupert on July 11th. At this latter point the party will embark on a palatial steamship for a cruise of 550 miles through the famous "Inside Passage" to Vancouver. While the tour terminates at Vancouver, those who desire to make a trip to Victoria, may have their tickets read "Victoria" as their destination without any additional cost.

This tour is an outing that appeals strongly to teachers as well as to professional men, and business men and women. The local agent of the Canadian National Railways will be pleased to give you full particulars of this tour, including the cost, choice of routes returning, etc.

Weak, Lost In Weight

WM. E. BRUSH

Windsor, Ont.—"For over six months I was in ill health—I was not able to do a day's work. I got very weak and lost in weight, could not eat, suffered from poor circulation, and all the time had a slight cough. I doctored but still kept going down and everyone thought I was going into a decline. I finally began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and thru the use of this medicine I was completely restored to good health. I gained in weight, my circulation improved and I could eat. The president offered no specific plan and made no reference to the League of Nations which has been brought forward again there by the international council of women.

GOOD NEWS FOR RHEUMATIC PEOPLE

Now Known That This Trouble Must Be Treated Through the Blood

The most a rheumatic sufferer can hope for in rubbing something on the tender, aching joint is a little relief. No lotion of liniment ever did or ever can do more than this. The rheumatic poison is rooted in the blood. To get rid of it you must treat it through the blood. Any doctor will tell you that this is true. If you want something that will go right to the root of the trouble, in the blood, take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The whole mission of this medicine is to purify and enrich the blood, and when they do this all blood troubles, including rheumatism, disappear. Among those who have proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Mrs. Annie Wright, Woolchester, Alta., who says: "I was a sufferer from rheumatism for six years, and during most of that time my life was one of misery. I tried several doctors, and many remedies recommended, but never got more than temporary relief. The trouble seemed to affect my whole system and I was badly rundown and suffered from headaches as well. Finally I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and through these I found complete relief and to-day I feel like a new person. I can therefore strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to anyone suffering as I did from this trouble."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

MAY 21

PETER AT LYDDA AND JOPPA

Golden Text: And they went forth, and preached everywhere, the Lord working with them, and confirming the word by the signs that followed. Mark 16:20.

Lesson: Acts 9:32-43.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 55:1-7.

The Text Explained and Illumined
The Cure of Aeneas, verses 32-35. Just as Peter and John had gone to Samaria to look into the work being done there by Philip the Evangelist, so Peter undertook, as we are now told, a journey of inspection to the Christian communities in the cities of the Mart-time Plain. Jerusalem was still the centre, and the apostles there must be kept in touch with the progress of the Kingdom elsewhere; therefore, as Chrysostom expressed it, like a commander of an army, Peter went about inspecting the ranks. In the course of his tour he visited the saints at Lydda. We apply the word saint to one who is distinguished by extraordinary piety, but Luke uses it here as synonymous with the word Christian. The saint was one who was trying to obey the will of God and was working in His Kingdom; every disciple was a saint in that sense of the word.

Not the word-according anchorite, Not the now babe in garments white—Not these, God's types of saintliness; But he who grasps the world for good.

This matchless remedy gives sure help to all afflicted with asthma. Inhaled as smoke or vapor it brings the help no long needed. Every dealer has it, or can get it for you from his wholesaler.

Cheapest of all Oils—Considering the qualities of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil it is the cheapest of all preparations offered to the public. It is to be found in every drug store in Canada from coast to coast and all country merchants keep it for sale. So, being easily procurable and extremely moderate in price, no one should be without a bottle of it.

From the quantity of stumping powder sold by the local Hardware stores, farmers in this district are making big preparations to clear land this summer.

Attention is called to the fact that restaurant licenses for this year expire May 31, 1925. The restaurant keepers should make provision for their 1925-26 licenses, which should be posted up in a conspicuous place, where both the public and the police may see same.

Quite a large crowd was present at Edmonton Beach on the holiday.

Sporting Notes.

Stony Plain ball team played Concordia College boys on Thursday on the local grounds and some very good playing was seen. The score at the end of the seventh inning was in Stony's favor 8-1; but at the end of the 9th it stood—Concordia College 10, Stony 8. Batteries—Stony, Val Mohr p, C. Lory c; Concordia College, Philip Enders p, Jac Plunz c.

Stony's High School boys engaged Concordia College boys Friday afternoon, and beat them 8 runs to 7. Ralph Witherspoon pitched for the locals the first three innings, when Herman Lpelsch went in the box, and won the game for the School. The visitors put up some good ball, but the hard game the day before told on them ere the play was over. Batteries—High school, Witherspoon and Loeblich, pitchers; C. Fuhr c; Concordia, Ph Enders p, Plunz c.

A few sportsmen went to the City on the holiday to see Herman Loeblich pitch his first game in the City league. Herman pitched two games, and the team on which he was won both.

Stony's baseball promoters are said to be waiting to see if we're again to get any more moisture.

After much arranging, a football match, Married vs Single, was played Monday afternoon on the fair grounds. Fifty minutes' play gave the Bachelors 3 goals, to 3 for the Benedicts.

Lawn Tennis Gossip

A scheme is afoot to get everybody interested in tennis, so that it will be possible to have a series of scheduled games, for both seniors and juniors. Those interested and would like to enter, give your names and years of experience no matter whether beginning or an expert, to Mr. Lorne Outway or Mr. Walker.

The local tennis courts will soon be fully equipped for the rest of the tennis season.

Owing to the scarcity of tennis players, Stony was unable to enter in a tennis tournament that was held lately amongst such towns as Brule, Otonway and others.

If a good turnout of tennis players appear within the coming season, you might see a good tennis tournament here next year with outside teams.

The tennis schedule will be put in this paper soon, as reference for those who are interested.
